Science is cooler than you think!

Turn yoghurt into a healing cream.:

A yoghurt-based hydrogel could soon revolutionise regenerative medicine. Powered by extracellular vesicles (EVs) that act as both building blocks and healing agents, this living-tissue mimic offers a new path for repairing and regenerating the body.

INNOVATIONS THAT CHANGED OUR WORLD!

Ever wonder how you can watch pictures at your home?

The Television: John Logie Baird (1924)

In the 1920s, John Logie Baird flipped the switch on home entertainment with one of the first working televisions. Before that? Stories lived in books, on stage, or floated through the airwaves of radio. But Baird's invention turned static images into moving magic. Suddenly, news, drama, sports, and culture beamed straight into our living rooms. From living rooms to lounges, and dorms to digital walls—TV didn't just entertain us, it transformed how we see the world.

TEXTBOOK MEETS REAL WORLD

Teach students real-world application of concepts!

Imagine a raisin disco party happening in your glass. No music. No lights. But these raisins? They're bobbing as if they have some secret dance moves.

What's Happening: Drop a few raisins into a fizzy soda, and suddenly, they start sinking and rising again like they're on a trampoline.

Science Behind It: Soda is full of carbon dioxide bubbles. These tiny gas bubbles stick to the rough surface of the raisin, making it lighter (more buoyant) and helping it rise. When the bubbles pop, the raisin sinks. It's a bubbly cycle that shows off buoyancy and gas behaviour in action!

TEACHERS HELPDESK

How to Conduct an Olympiad Mock Test in Your Classroom

- Set the Mood : Treat it like the real thing with a quiet room, a ticking clock, and no peeking at notes. Let them feel the exam vibe.
- Stick to the Format : Use questions that look and feel like the actual Olympiad. Same pattern, same pressure.
- Encourage Self-Reflection : Have students maintain error logs or journals to track mistakes and learning progress.
- Watch the Clock : Time the test just like the real one. It'll help students learn to think fast without rushing.
- Talk It Out After : Once they're done, go over tricky questions together. Sometimes a quick chat clears up big doubts.
- Keep Score, Spot Trends : Track results to see who's improving and who needs a boost. It makes planning the next steps easier.

MYTH VS FACT

Myth: You can dry a wet phone by putting it in rice.

Fact: Rice is not an effective way to dry out a water-damaged phone. While many believe the rice will absorb the moisture, it may or may not actually help you a little. Even worse could happen; tiny grains and dust can get into your phone's ports or speaker cavities, leading to further internal damage. It's better to power the phone off, remove the battery if possible, and let it dry out in open air or use silica gel packets if available.

TECH FOR TEACHERS

Why Online Olympiad Quizzes Are the Future of Competitive Exams!

- Accessibility for Every Student : With just a device and internet, students from anywhere, cities or remote areas, can participate. No travel, no stress. It's a playing field for students!
- Instant Results & Feedback : Remember waiting weeks for scores? Not anymore. Online quizzes give students instant feedback, helping them learn and improve on the spot.
- Real-Time Monitoring & Fairness : Online platforms are smart: proctoring tools, timers, and randomised questions keep the competition fair and transparent. It's like having an invigilator on every screen!
- Makes Learning Exciting : Kids today love screens, so why not make learning feel like a challenge, a game, even a mission? These quizzes tap into that energy and turn academics into a fun experience.
- Personalised Insights : As teachers, we get detailed reports on each student's strengths and weaknesses. It's like having a diagnostic toolkit that helps us guide them better.
- Prepares Students for the Real World : Online testing mirrors how college entrance exams and even job assessments are conducted today. It's a small but smart step toward future readiness.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF

You drink soda every single day?

It's a fizzy yet frightening look into what happens when your body becomes a sugar-charged battleground—from tired teeth to crashing energy, stubborn fat to risky health turns. Crave the truth? Crack the can and let's go. Want to know more

VOCABULARY BOOST

What is anachronism

An anachronism is like seeing a knight checking his smartwatch, something clearly out of place for the time! It can be funny, confusing, or even on purpose in movies or books. These little time mix-ups make us notice how different life was back then compared to now. Pretty wild, right?

DO YOU KNOW?

Bears are smarter than you think!

Bears are incredibly intelligent creatures, often surprising researchers with their clever problem-solving abilities. In some documented cases, they've been observed rolling rocks or heavy objects into bear traps not by accident, but deliberately to trigger the mechanisms. This is just how resourceful they are.

ASTRONOMY FACT

Mercury: the speedy space sprinter!

The very first planet from the Sun and the tiniest one of them all, even smaller than some moons. Mercury finishes its whole trip in just 88 Earth days! It's blazing hot during the day, cold at night! It has no moons at all, just Mercury doing its solo space dance!
