TEXTBOOK MEETS REAL WORLD

Why does your stomach gurgle when you're hungry?

Ever heard strange rumbling sounds coming from your stomach during class or while waiting for lunch? Don't worry - it's completely normal!

Those growling noises, called borborygmi (bor-bo-RIG-my), occur when the muscles in your stomach and intestines contract to move air, liquids, and food through your digestive system. When your stomach is empty, these sounds can become even louder.

Scientific Connection: Your digestive system stays active even when there's no food to digest. It's constantly preparing itself for your next meal and keeping everything moving smoothly.

Fun Fact: The sound doesn't actually come from hunger alone - it comes from the movement of air and fluids inside your digestive tract.

MYTH V/S FACT

MYTH

If you touch a baby bird, its mother will abandon it.

FACT

Most birds have a limited sense of smell, so handling a chick briefly usually doesn't make the parent abandon it.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF

What Would Happen If You Stopped Sweating?

There is a Sweat may seem annoying on a hot day, but it plays a vital role in keeping your body cool. As sweat evaporates from your skin, it helps lower your body temperature.

Without sweating, your body would struggle to release excess heat, causing your temperature to rise rapidly. On hot days or during physical activity, this could lead to overheating, heat exhaustion, or even heatstroke.

The human body has between 2 and 4 million sweat glands working continuously to help regulate temperature.

VOCABULARY BOOST

What does "Tenacious" mean?

Meaning: Showing determination; never giving up.

Example: Her tenacious attitude helped her solve even the toughest math problems.

The word tenacious comes from a Latin word meaning "to hold firmly." It is often used to describe people who keep working towards their goals despite challenges.

? DO YOU KNOW?Your GPS Works Because of Einstein's Theory!

where you are? GPS satellites orbiting Earth carry highly accurate clocks that constantly send timing signals to your device.

According to Einstein's Theory of Relativity, time moves slightly differently in space than it does on Earth. Scientists must account for these tiny differences, or GPS locations could become inaccurate by several kilometres each day.

Fun Fact: Without Einstein's calculations, your navigation apps would quickly lose accuracy!

ASTRONOMY FACT

The James Webb Space Telescope Sees the Earliest Galaxies

The James Webb Space Telescope (JWST) is the most powerful space telescope ever built. It can look back nearly 13.5 billion years, allowing scientists to observe some of the earliest galaxies formed after the Big Bang.

How is this possible?

Because light takes time to travel through space, looking farther away means looking further back in time. JWST is essentially helping us explore the universe's earliest chapters.
